

ANOTHER WORLD

Alan
Jarvis

There were no plans to finish another album so soon after releasing The Passion Box but I had so many songs lying around that were almost, or more than halfway, finished I decided to complete them. The result is my third all-instrumental CD and it's a concept album.... sort of. Quite unintentionally, the writing and arranging were sounding very other worldly so I stayed with that theme. A couple of tunes included here don't quite match the concept but it's nothing a little imagination can't fix!

- A surreal landscape with blue mountains and a full moon. The scene is dominated by a large, bright full moon in the upper left corner, casting a soft glow over a series of layered, blue mountains that recede into the distance. The mountains have a jagged, crystalline appearance. The foreground shows dark, undulating hills. The overall color palette is various shades of blue, from deep navy to light sky blue.
